NEWS FROM NORTH CAROLINA.

Mr. George H. Hart's Despatch.

BEAUFORT, N. C., July 27, 1864.
With the exception of an occasional nocturnal visit of stray guerilla parties to the picket posts there is nothing transpiring to vary the every day monotony. Madaine Rumor, however, is busy at her vocation, and reports of rebel plots and counter plots are the active result. TRADE REGULATIONS.

It is understood that certain regulations affecting trade are about to emanate from the Treasury Department, whose direct tendency will be to restrict hitherto liberal privileges, and greatly limit, the amount of business in merchandise of all kinds is the district. It is believed that the design of this new policy is to correct alleged abuses, and to prevent supplies finding their way into the onemy's lines.

LIEUTENANT COLONEL POOR,

Second North Caroline, has been appointed Provost Mar-shal of the sub-district of Beaufort. His appointment receives the hearty approval of the residents in this vicointy, both civilians and military. He has initiated a system by which the negroes, who abound here to an anonying extent, are compelled to labor for their own support, thus relieving the government of the incubus. There can be no more mistaken policy than that which soccurages in sich and transforms a race of laborers (in their original and apparently natural condition) into one of paopers.

Arrangements are now in progress to build log huts for the refugee families. This is done in anticipation of the approach of witter, when the tents in which they are temporarily quartered would cease to affor d comfort. Lieutenaus Reed, of the First North Carolina, has the supervision of the construction, and seems to labor azealously.

Lieutenant Connelly, One Hundred and Fifty-eighth New York regiment, as at present acting as assistant Ad-jutant Several of the sub-district, Lieutenant littley, of the same regiment, the former incumbent, being absent

MANINE INTELLIGENCE.

There are now but few vessels civing between this port and the North, and if I except the Fetrei, of nume's intere are no regular steamers. I must not negreet, in this connection, to acknowledge courtesies, in the way of groupt transmitted of despatches, often afforded upe by Mr. Anderson, agent for the Petrei.

ar. Adderson, agent for the Petrel.
THE MODITION.

There has nothing of interest transpired in the vicinity and off Wilmington. The blockaders make their regular trips to this part for supplies of coal. The Mercedits, Captara Arnold, and the Quaker City. Captain Magas, left a few days since to resume their stations on the blockade. The blockade runners are waiting for the disappearance of the mode, whose influence is unpropisious to their success.

Avoter 1. - Washington Medallion Pen Company vs. George Harrison and George Bradford .- The defendants are the manufacturers of the Harrison & Bradford Washington Medallion Pen, and the plaintiffs some time appear contained an experie injunction restraining the de lendants from manufacturing said pen.

The plaintiffs daimed that the term Washington Medallion was invented by Albert transfer, and that they, under themse of maid traininger, used thateterm as a trade mark. On the other hand the defendants chuned that the term Washington Medallion was not new; that it had been used by the American Steel Pen Manufacturing Company before it had been used by the plaintiff, and that it was a term in common use, which could not be converted into a trade mark; that the plaintiff, and that it was a term in common use, which could not be converted into a trade mark; that the plaintiffs ceased to manufacture pens in December, 1800, such had not since manufactured any; that in March, 1802, the defendants bought of plaintiffs all the machinery and tools used by them in manufacturing pens, and that since that time and until January, 1864, the defendants had manufactured the pens for Albert Grainger, supposing him to be the patenties; that about January, 1894, they learned the Grainger had no patent for the pen; that since making that decordants moved to dissolve the aquicilan, and the motion was argued at great laught be ore dedice G. REBEL PLOTTINGS IN CANADA.

Our Toronto Correspondence. Tonarro, Osnada, July 29, 1864.

Beles, Republicans and Royalists Banded Agrinst for Union—They all Draire the Re-election of Line Schemes and Post, do.

Schemes and Pets, de.
There has been a grand pow-wow in Toron's this week. There has been a grand power of this week. Southerners, copperheads and Kentue has have been hobsorbing together. The latter are quite numerous this week. I think some order prints have been issued in Kentucky which has wounded their feelings. The Ken-tuckines are a very mixed race. All the fighting portion of the Kentucky sebels went South with Breckinridge and Buckner. They, at all events, were not wanting in phock; Buckner. They, at all events, were not wanting in plack; but the great majority of Kentuckians are still on the fence. If ad the rebellion proved successful they would have been South. When the rebellion is put down you will not find a Kontuckian outside of those in the rebel ranks who will not swear that his heart has always been loyal to the Stars and Stripes. They have two reasons for coming to Canada. There have been rumors of Murgan making another visit to fetch conscripts for Jeff. Dayis—that is one reason. Then they might be wanted for the Union army—that is reason two. Well, these Kentuckians baye had an interview with Clement these Kentuckians baye had an interview with Cleirest C. clay, and have tried to induce him to persuade Jeff. Davis to make a peace on the basis of union, with guarantees for alswery, before Kentucky Joses all her sisyes. Clay got furious with them, and told there in plain terms that if they had any real eyrapathy with the South their place was at Potersburg, or Atlanta, at which Sanders cut up rough and spoke up for Kentucky. To told the truth, I do not think Sanner would refuse the Colloctorship of the pert of New York. He has had more kicks labely from Jeff. Davis than he reliables, and if report is true he deserved them. It seems George was employed in London to make an arrangement with W. S. Louisay & Co. for the building of some steamers, which were to run the blockade with munitions of war for the rebel government, and he told them so many different steries that they refused to treat with him, and when they applied to headquarters at Bichmond the rebest automotives repudiated all he had done. Therefore, although I heard him say the other day that he without to see lincoln re-cleiced, because it would have been rung. Although the had done therefore, although I heard him say the other day that he without to see lincoln re-cleiced, because it would be one of the first to come in and take the oath, because he is willy chough to know that the death kinelt of the rebellion would have been rung. Although the history is a disgrace to the South, and that they don't want been in the confideracy. They were told here that Breckinridge, thekner and Burnett had all declared that they were stanned of their State, and would sever live in it again, or admit that they came from it. These were hard outs for the Kentuckians to crack, and will, perhaps, show them that the double game they have been playing has not succeeded with either party. The rebel capents and the trien and of the residency and contact and contact and the time of the contact and the time of the contact seems of the Union States.

The rebel colers are con C. clay, and have tried to induce him to persuade Jeff. Davis to make a peace on the basis of union, with guar-
